eral News of Kansas. Topeka, Kan., June 27 .- (Special.)-The war between Ingalls and Burton for the seat in the United States senate from Kansas has begun. Ingalls is not saying much, except that he would like the members of the legislature to be instructed by a direct vote of the people. However, Burton and his friends appear to be spelling for a row with Ingalls. Burton speaks lightly of Ingalls and his candidacy on all occasions. In an interview at Lawrence some time ago he said that Ingalls would not be much to overcome. And The war between Ingalls and Burton now the Abilene Reflector, Burton's ornow the Abilene Reflector, Burton's origan, comes out in this fashion, It says:

Mr. Ingalls sandwiches his pitiful pleas and heartrending worriment for his "old sandheartrending worriment for his "old sand has mortgage with remarks to the effect that he wants the people to decide between him and the others. Nothing would give Mr. Burton more pleasure. Congressman Curtis said in an interview with McKinley: "It now looks as though we were to have too prominent candidates in the senatorial contest. One of them will be J. R. Burton, who was a candidate and who was defeated by a combination when Senator Baker was, and the other will be Mr. Ingalls." It being recognized that the fight is coming between Ingalls and Burton and it will be a fight that will make the ex-senator seek the glades of his booky wood again and commune with nature over another Waterloo. Ingalls is keeping a dignified silence. If necessary, he can give J. R. Burton a skinning that the young man would never forget.

WHAT CY LELAND WANTS.
The following special from this city appears in the Emporia Gazette: The laiest bit of political gossip around the Copeland is that Cyrus Leland, Jr. would give Mr. Burton more pleasure.

latest bit of political gossip around the Copeland is that Cyrus Leland, Jr., chairman of the Kansas Republican-state central committe, has fixed himstate central committe, has fixed him-self solid with the plug-hatted Mr. Smith of Ohio, who accompanied Mc-Kinley to Kansas this month, and also last fall; and that as the result of their solidity Leland is to have the portfolio of the sccretary of the interior, or agri-culture, which ever is vacant, and that Mr. Leland is to deliver Kansas to Mc-Kinley. It is a notable fact that the men who are rolling this morsel under their tongues this moraing are the fel-lows who started out to deliver Kan-sas to Tom Reed, and then started out to line up for Allison.

Kinley. It is a notable fact that the men who are rolling this morsel under their tongues this morning are the fellows who started out to deliver Kansas to Tom Reed, and then started out to line up for Allison.

For some time it has been known in Kansas that Mr. Leland did not wantany minor office under the state administration, and as early as last December there was talk to the effect that Leland's senatorial fight only meant that he was to help name a senator, who would help him get into the cabinet. That was probably truth. All last fall the men who were "close to Cy"—and there were at least half a dozen, who were more or less leaky for all his reputation as "old smoothie" said that Leland's aim in life was to be a member of the cabinet. It is not likely that the story which is being spread around today has any more foundation than the old last fall'sstory. Leland would doubtless like to go to Washington as a cabinet officer, but washington as a cabinet officer, but with a member of the cabinet. That was probably truth. All have sined, but I have hurt the likely that the story which is being spread around today has any more foundation than the old last fall'sstory. Lawrence, Kan. June 27.—The annual commencement exercises at the Haston institute of the United States industrial school for Indians took place this morning. The graduating class consisted of seven members who are now ready to take up work in the normal departments of the schools of the country. The address to the class was given by Professor W. H. Carrith, of the Kansas university and President C. F. Messerve of Shaw university at Atlanta, Georgia, former superintendent of the school was also present and made an address. Graduates and their tribes are as follows: Rose Dougherty, Shawnee; May Herron, Chippewa; Geneva Cabers, Wilstit Lawrence, Kan. June 27 -- The annual

FIRST-CLASS GROWING WEATHER. ne Parts of Oklahoma too Much Rain is Reported to Have Fallen.

Oklahoma City, O. T., June 27.-(Special.)—The United States department of agriculture, weather bureau, has just issued weather crop bulletin No 13, of the Oklahoma weather-crop service, for the week ending June 24, 1895, as follows: Good rains fell throughout the ter-ritory during the first three days of the week, Monday afternoon and night, Tuesday and Wednesday. Since then, with the exception of a shower north of Enid, Garfield county, on the after-noon of the 25th, the weather has been dry and warm with continuous sun-shine during the day, and cool nights. Some of our reporters in the eastern and northern sections report too much rain, making ground too wet to culti-vate cotton, and two or three in the central and northern sections think more rain would be beneficial, but as a whole, better growing weather could not be desired.

Corn, which two weeks ago was thought to be ruined, has kept up the start of last week and is making rapid growth. It is almost made in portions of southern and eastern sections, while elsewhere it has attained a fair growth. elsewhere it has attained a fair growth western sections, Late potatoes are growing fast. Many were planted af-ter the rains of last week. Colorado beetle are doing much damage to the plant, in the eastern section particularily. Throughout this section, too chinch bugs are hurting the corn most.

The highest temperature within the week, 38 degrees, occurred on the afternoon of the 24th; the lowest, 51 degrees, on the 19th. The average temperature, 76.6 degrees, was tenth degree above normal.

WAS THE POTATO BORN THERE. Scientists Believe They Have Discovered Its Birth Place in Missouri,

Kansas City, Mo., June 27.—Jackson county, Missouri, promises to be famous in history as the birthplace of the Irish potato. Some of the local botanists of Independence have discovered this fact and have traced the lineage of the verytable, which is now known to this fact and have traced the lineage of the vegetable, which is now known to every table in the world as the "Irish potato" back to its birthplace.
